Our series of Investment Conferences and Summits concentrate on the metals, minerals and energy sectors: high value, capital-intensive businesses which require large scale funding. Both sides of this relationship are looking for new opportunities for funding and quality deals. Whether you are a metals, minerals or energy company, the Objective Capital Investment Conferences and Summits are an opportunity you should not miss.

These engaging events are also a must attend for anyone with a serious interest in investing in the mining industry – whether they be family offices, fund managers, investment bankers, venture capitalists or high net worth individuals.
